Monthly update

Portfolio commentary¹

In October, the total return (change in NAV plus distribution per unit) was 0.82%. This marks a 9.13% total return since the beginning of the year. The Underlying Fund declared a distribution of 0.0070 per unit, aligned with the distribution target of RBA + 4% per annum. The high interest-rate environment continues to boost performance contributing 72 bps to the total monthly return. Single-B rated assets provided 70 bps to the total return. In terms of sectors, Information Technology, Healthcare and Industrials contributed 47bps to the total return for the month. The weighted average price of the underlying assets in the portfolio is 97.5, and the current portfolio yield is 10.8%.

In October, the Underlying Fund continued to incorporate new direct credit positions into the portfolio. Notable examples include a French provider of connectivity and digital banking solutions, a UK-based leader in SaaS business management software applications, and an Australian producer of over-the-counter prescription medicines. On the syndicated credit, the Fund maintained its focus on the primary market, participating in several transactions including a US based manufacturer of fire safety products, the largest tertiary education platform in Europe based in France and a provider of specialized logistics and shipping products based in US.

Market activity²

In October, strong demand from CLOs and retail investors drove a rally in secondary prices, resulting in a 0.86% return for the US loan market and a 0.69% return for the European market. This brings the year-to-date total returns to 7.45% and 7.56%, respectively.

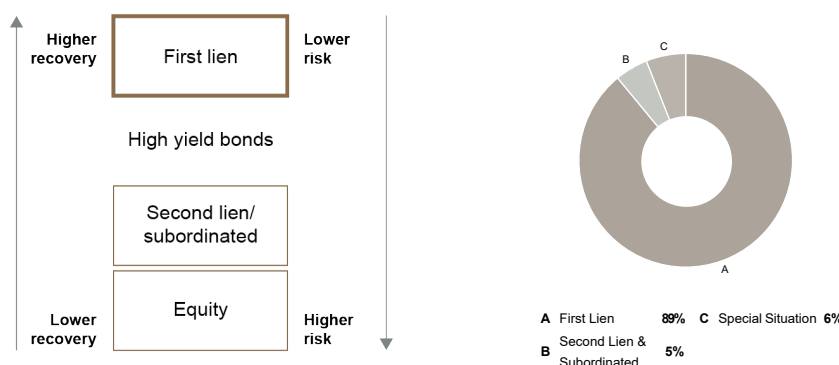

While loan yields have fallen to two-year lows due to repricing, refinancings, and September's rate cut, they remain attractive compared to historical averages.
