

Monthly report October 2023

September NAV per share decreased by 0.5%

In September, global markets experienced negative performance due to renewed concerns about ongoing rate hikes among investors. This followed inflation reports that showed an increase, which was mainly due to rising energy prices, while underlying price pressures remained mostly mild. Furthermore, some market observers have expressed the view that the market's progress has already accounted for a significant portion of the improved earnings predictions. Reflecting this, Partners Group Global Multi-Asset Fund recorded a performance decline of 0.5% for the month, bringing the returns for the last twelve months to 8.1%. Notwithstanding, the Portfolio continued to maintain healthy distribution levels and a net positive revaluation within its private equity and private debt investments.

Over the reporting period, the Underlying Fund made several add-on debt investments to (i) Action, one of the fastest-growing non-food discount retailer in Europe, (ii) Cooperation Pharmaceutique Francaise, a manufacturer and distributor of pharmaceutical raw materials, medical devices, over the counter products such as pain killers and antiseptics, as well as orthopedic aids, and (iii) Heartland Dental, a US-based dental support organization that provides non-clinical, administrative support services including management services, marketing and business development to more than 2'600 doctors in over 1'650 dental practices across 38 states in the US.

Meanwhile, the Portfolio continued to benefit from stable distribution activity. During the month, Partners Group received proceeds from the partial repayment of its first lien debt investment in Ineos Quattro Holdings UK. Previously known as Ineos Styrolution, the company provides styrenic applications for the automotive, electronics, household, construction, healthcare, packaging, and toy industries, serving clients worldwide.
