Special topic: Growth in the property technology ("PropTech") Ecosystem

With COVID as an accelerant to what had been glacial adoption of technology in real estate, PropTech has emerged as a critical tool for value creation within the sector. As tenants have come to demand more from landlords - enhanced amenities, varied floor plate configurations and operational improvements - PropTech has emerged as the turnkey solution for effectively and efficiently meeting these changing needs. Looking ahead, we believe that PropTech, which will increasingly encompass AI solutions that assist in the automation of currently operationally intensive tasks, will also play an increasingly important role in driving decarbonization and in turn, the economic viability and long-term success of ageing assets across the globe.

Partners Group has historically been an active investor in PropTech services, leveraging those insights to become an early adopter of technologies in its real estate portfolio. For example, within our Private Equity vertical, we invested in Emeria (fka Foncia), a leading property management services provider in Europe. Notably, Emeria has developed a state-of-the-art Enterprise Resource Planning platform to effectively manage landlords' rent-rolls, service requests and payments. By the end of 2023, this platform will be used by 6'500+ users.

At the same time, we have looked to aggressively onboard other PropTech solutions tied to driving operational improvements and futureproofing assets for a more energy efficient world. Recently, at our 295,000 sqft office asset in Tampa, FL, we introduced AI-based software that monitors energy-intensive equipment such as heating, cooling and ventilation. Within three months of installation, this software has generated a 17 percent reduction in energy consumption, saving an equivalent of 83 metric tons of CO2 and a direct reduction in utility costs. We are now seeking to roll out this solution for other office properties within our portfolio.

We firmly believe that in order to adapt to rapidly shifting market dynamics, we must keep pace with technological innovation impacting the real estate sector. In doing so, we can most effectively cater to the evolving preferences of occupiers and further embrace data governance for effective decision-making.

This Fund might restrict outflows in the future.

Monthly report as of 31 October 2023

The Partners Group Global Real Estate Fund (AUD) is an Australian Unit Trust with the objective of achieving long-term capital appreciation by investing in a global portfolio of real estate investments diversified by geographies, financing stages and property types. The investment strategy is led by Partners Group's relative value investment approach to optimise risk-adjusted returns by systematically overweight those segments and investment types that offer attractive value at a given point in time.

The Fund allows investors to subscribe and redeem shares on a monthly basis, thus avoiding the long lock-up periods common in most private real estate funds. The Fund may hedge certain currency exposure to reduce the risk of foreign exchange movements. The Fund is a feeder fund that invests in Partners Group Global Real Estate FCP ("Master Fund").
